KEEP OFF BRIDGE, CONTRACTORS WARN

Warning has been issued by the Wausau Bridge and Iron Works builders of the Cherry-st bridge, that persons crossing the bridge while it is under construction do so at their own risk. A large number of people are walking across the bridge every day, it is said.

"Parents should see to it that their children keep off the new structure," an official of the company said Tuesday. "Our workmen are too busy to watch the youngsters and there is a grave danger that they might fall into the water."

Find Green Circle Mystery Man And Win $25 In Gold

Can you imagine being handed $25 in gold for simply walking up to the right man and saying, "You are the Mysterious Green Circle man with the $25 in gold?"

It may sound like a fairy tale, but it is real, and next Saturday afternoon between 5 and 6 o'clock the mysterious Green Circle man will be on College-ave, within a radius of two blocks from the Oneida street intersection, ready to hand out the $25 in gold to the person who discovers him and says the magic words.

There is the big point, the magic words. No other words but the right ones will get you that $25 in gold. Here they are again, remember them and get them into your mind right and then be ready Saturday to find the Mysterious Green Circle man and say "You are the Mysterious Green Circle man with the $25 in gold."

It is not really going to be hard to find the Green circle man for somewhere on his clothes there will be a little green circle. Watch for it, keep your eyes open and your mind alert and when you see that little circle stop him, repeat the magic words and he will take you to the Post-Crescent office where the $25 in gold will be waiting for you.

WANTS TO BE CAPTURED

The green circle man wants to be captured and he wants some one to get the money. However, the green circle man is going to try to avoid being caught as long as he can and the green circle man knows a few things about delaying his being caught. If you find him be sure he does not get away before you can repeat the magic words and above all do not get rattled and get the magic words all mixed up.

The green circle man will positively be on College-ave within two blocks from Oneida-st, between the hours stated above. He will positively have a green circle on some part of his clothing and he will positively give that $25 to the person who stops him and repeats the magic words.

Now get ready to be the lucky one to win that $25. Get the green circle idea in your mind, be on College-ave between superior and Durkee-sts Saturday afternoon between 5 and 6 o'clock and search for the man with the green circle on his clothes. When you see him go up and grab him, use a wrestler's hold if necessary to hold him, and then repeat the golden words.

Here they are again, "You are the Mysterious Green Circle man with the $25 in gold."

SKID ON STREET CAR TRACK CAUSES COLLISION

Skidding on the street car track on Oneida-st near the College-ave intersection, an automobile driven by H A. Noffke, 1035 Seconda-ve, was struck on the left side Tuesday afternoon by a truck owned by Paine Lumber company of Oshkosh and driven by Carl Andreson. The Appleton man was driving north and the truck was coming from the opposite direction. As the local car tried to turn off the track, it skidded, and in the crash that followed, the left rear fender and running board were bent on the Noffke car, while the front bumper and the left front fender of the truck were bent.

CHANCE LEFT TO SLICE $500 OFF HOME ASSESSMENT

Board of Review Will Accept Homestead Exemption Affidavits

Home owners who failed to take advantage of the homestead exemption of $500 allowed on homes still have one more opportunity to do so, according to an announcement by the Appleton board of equalization which is in session to review assessments.

A ruling by the states attorney general's department makes it clear that the board of equalization which reviews and adjusts assessments made by the city assessor, may still accept affidavits from property owners relative to the $500 homestead exemption up to the time of adjournment.

The board will be in session every day this week until Saturday noon, and home owners who failed to file affidavits with the assessor are invited to file them now with the board, inasmuch as the members desire that every one entitled to this exemption privilege make use of it.

The board has had a quiet session, for not more than three or four complaints have come to the board relative to disputed assessment.

"A Sure Income Is Better Than Sudden Riches"

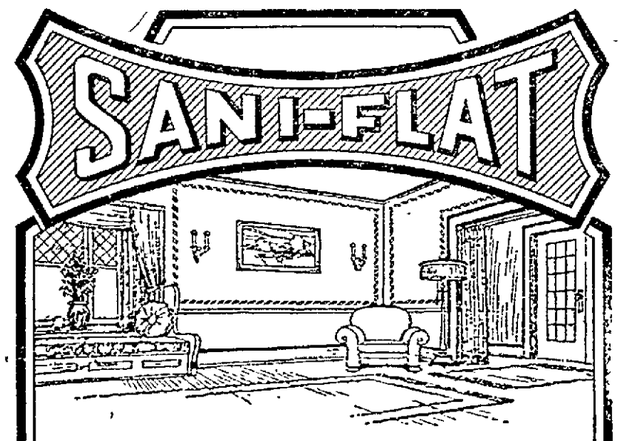

"If I leave my family all my insurance and property outright," said a business man, "it would seem to them like sudden riches. They might conserve it, but they might not.

"I could leave this to chance, but I know my wife would prefer a sure income to uncertainty and money responsibility."

"So, in my will, I have specified that a trust company shall hold what I leave in trust for my family's benefit, paying them a fixed rate of income. In stated emergencies, however, extra amounts may be paid out. I am thus accomplishing flexibility with certainty."

FARMERS' PICNIC WILL BE LARGEST IN VALLEY HISTORY

30 Farm Organizations Expect 7,000 People at Pierce Park

Committees in charge of the farm union festival at Pierce park Wednesday, Aug. 13, have completed arrangements for what promises to be the biggest picnic of its kind ever held in Fox river valley. An attendance of more than 7,000 persons from all parts of the county is anticipated.

The festival has been arranged by nearly 30 farm organizations. A parade will be one of the features of the day, and will form at 10:30 in the morning on College-ave opposite Lawrence college. Music will be furnished by two bands.

A picnic lunch will be served at the park at noon. Tables will be provided and buttermilk will be furnished free. Coffee can be secured at the park. All who attend the festival are expected to take their lunch baskets with them and the executive committee is anxious that there should be a large representation of Appleton people.

The program will open with a band concert at 12:30 which will be followed at 1 o'clock by community singing. At 2 o'clock the heads of the various farm organizations will be given three minutes each to discuss the aims of their organizations and tell what they have accomplished during the year.

A demonstration of old time "fiddling" and dancing will be given at the close of the speaking and will be followed by an exhibition of Spanish dancing. A second band concert will follow the dancing.

The congress of wonders will be open while the program is being carried out and will give those not interested in the speaking an opportunity to be entertained otherwise. All kinds of games except those of chance will be provided and refreshments will be on sale at more than half a dozen stands. There will be no political speaking.

ON THE SCREEN

J. PARKER READ JR'S. PRODUCTION OF "PAWNED" BY FRANK L. PACKARD AUTHOR OF "THE MIRACLE MAN"

As its attraction for today and Thursday the New Bijou theatre has announced the Select Pictures Corporation's special production, "Pawned," made under the personal supervision of J. Parker Read, Jr. Advance reports on the photoplay warrant the statement that motion picture patrons who are fond of mystery, thrills, and action will overlook a bet if they fail to see this offering.

"Pawned" is from a story by Frank L Packard, among the best known of America's writers of current fiction and especially dear to motion picture devotees because of the success of his "The Miracle Man" as a photoplay. The tale is frankly melodrama—but melodrama done in such a way as to make the picture stand out among the really worth while and artistic productions of the screen.

The title comes from a series of pledges, either willingly or unwillingly, made by the principal characters. One pawns his life to the service of an international gambler. Another pawns his soul to drugs, another to drink, and the heroine pledges her hand in marriage as a loveless bride to save the life of the man she loves. One needs no further information to convince them that the working out of such a tangled skein is likely to result in intense and vivid photoplay action.

BIG STAR CAST IN "SINGLE WIVES"

The cast of "Single Wives," the First National Production which will close its engagement at the Elite Theatre tonight, is significant of the quality of this much discussed photo-drama.

Co-featuring Corinne Griffith and Milton Sills, two of America's best beloved stars, the supporting cast is remarkable in that it contains names that have played a prominent role in the growth and development of the great amusement industry.

Kathlyn Williams, who is seen as Dorothy Van Clark, is best remembered as the heroine of that celebrated serial, "The Adventures of Kathlyn." Since her advent into the multiple reel dramas she has been starred and featured in many pictures, including the first "Spoilers," in which she played Cherry Malotte.

Lou Tellegen, whose work on the legitimate stage as leading man for Duse, Bernhardt and Rejane placed him in the forefront of the world's great actors, is considered one of the screen's handsomest men. Only recently he was starred on Broadway in "Blind Youth" and was especially engaged for the role of Martin Prayle in "Single Wives."

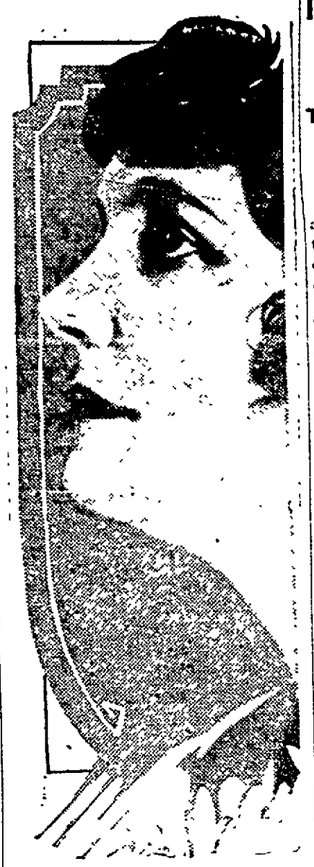

TWO COWS STRUCK BY SOO LINE WORK TRAIN

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Dale—While crossing the Soo Line tracks on the way home from pasture, two head of cattle belonging to Walter Sommer were struck by the engine of a work train. One was able to walk home but the other had to be hauled home on a stone boat.

Section foreman Paul Price called out his crew about 11:30 Monday morning and went over his section of the railroad. Some near-washouts were found and one place near Readfield the gravel was washed out from between and under the ties for quite a distance. In the cut in the west end of the village the water was over the tracks.

WANT SHOW CATTLE AT SEYMOUR FAIR

A change has been made by the committees appointed to select cattle for the Outagamie-co exhibit at the National dairy show at Milwaukee. Instead of assembling the show cattle for a tour of exhibits at various fairs, starting at Seymour, the committee will make their selections at Seymour. Owners of fine Holstein, Guernsey and Brown Swiss cattle are urged to exhibit at the Seymour fair. A teacher from the Wisconsin College of Agriculture will be engaged as a special judge to help the committee make the selections. After the Seymour fair, the select cattle will be taken either to the state fair at Milwaukee or to the Northwestern Wisconsin fair at De Pere, after which they will follow the circuit of county fairs, winding up at the National dairy show in Milwaukee the last week in September.

A Plea to Men

Please keep your hair

By Edna Wallace Hopper

You men admire luxuriant hair, thick and lustrous, healthy, clean. And so do we, dear sirs. Then, why will you, through sheer neglect, let your hair disappear.

My hair is finer than 40 years ago. It grows thicker every year. I have never known falling hair or dandruff, and never a touch of gray. Just because I searched the world for the best hair helps men know. And I had them combined in a tonic and cleanser which I call Hair Youth. From time to time each better help discovered has been added to it.

I believe the experts I consult know all that is known about hair. I know they supply me their utmost. Certainly no factors ever discovered have brought finer hair than mine.

Now I offer you, as I offer women, this supreme help for the hair. It is concentrated. You apply it with an eyedropper directly to the scalp. There it combats the hardened oil and dandruff which so stifle the hair roots. It tones and stimulates. Then hair thrives just as flowers thrive in a well-kept garden.

I know that here I place at your command the greatest hair help in existence. Not some fallacious theory not some ordinary tonic, but the best that science has discovered, so far as I can find.

All druggists and toilet counters supply my Hair Youth under guarantee. The first package brings you help you seek, or I will pay the cost. The cost is 50 cents and $1 with eyedropper. Let me urge you to try it. We women—all of us—love to see heavy, healthy hair. And I have found the way.

I will send you a bottle to try without cost if you mail this coupon to me.

Next Election Likely To Establish New Party

Complete Change in Election Machinery May Be Necessity of Future

BY HARRY B. HUNT

Washington—The presidential election next Nov. 4 may be important, historically, far beyond any election since the Civil War. It may become a mile-post, marking a very definite point in American affairs.

This importance lies not in the remotely possible election of Senator La Follette to the presidency.

It lies not in the recognized possibility that the election may be deadlocked and the choice of a president thrown into Congress.

It does not even lie in the virtual certainty that an "independent" balance of power will be returned in the new Congress.

The really important possibility in the coming election is that it will place on a secure and permanent footing a new national party—a "third" party sufficiently strong and aggressive to sit in at the national political game on terms of equality with Republicans and Democrats.

Despite the fact that Senator La Follette and his followers have disclaimed the formation at this time of a new national political party, running simply as "independents," in protest against the platforms and policies of the two old parties, it is none the less true that there is an underlying hope, even an expectation, that a new national party will be born of the struggle in the coming campaign.

Although such a new party might properly be classed as "liberal," with both old parties grouped under the definition of "conservative," it is unlikely that any coalition between the remaining groups in the Republican and Democratic parties could be effected which would unite them under a common head against the new "liberal."

The result would be that for an indefinite period, at least, three major parties instead of two would contest for supremacy in every national election.

The result of a tri-party, instead of a bi-party, system would introduce difficulties that, if long continued, might force far-reaching changes in our elective machinery and legislative processes.

For instance: Should there be three strong, permanent parties, it would be virtually impossible for any presidential candidate ever to obtain a majority in the electoral college.

This would force, ultimately, a change in the method of electing the president—possibly direct elections, instead of through the medium of electors—since it is not likely the country would long stand for elections being thrown regularly into Congress.

No less a political partisan than George Lockwood, editor of the National Republican and former secretary of the Republican National Committee, declares that a general overhauling of our political and legislative machinery must result if third party groups are to hold a balance of power in Congress and in national elections.

The importance then, on the permanent political history of the United States, of the present "independent" movement, far outweighs its immediate effect in the present campaign.

If, as its supporters maintain, the "independent" movement is not a LaFollette movement primarily, but finds its strength in fundamental economic and civil conditions instead of in the personality and persuasiveness of any one individual, than any considerable strength developed in this year's campaign is almost certain to be crystalized into the nucleus for a new national party.

If the La Follette candidacy is personal, rather than undamental, then, there's no use worrying about the troubles to come in a tri-party system.

But just which it is no two groups will be able to agree until the votes have been cast this fall.

GET BIG HIGHWAY CONTRACT IN EAST

Garvey-Weyenberg Co. Lowest Bidder on Road in Pennsylvania

Garvey - Weyenberg Construction company of Appleton was notified Tuesday that it had been awarded the contract for two and one-third miles of reinforced concrete pavement in Beaver-co, Pa., near Pittsburg. The figures submitted were $132,000, the lowest of five bidders. This makes nine miles of reinforced concrete pavement in Pennsylvania awarded the contractors this year. Besides this reinforced concrete the company has two miles of penetration macadam near Uniontown which it is required to finish before cold weather.

The caompany has been doing road work in Pennsylvania almost exclusively for the last four years. In 1921 it constructed seven miles of reinforced concrete pavement; in 1922, seven miles; and in 1923 fourteen miles. Most of the work has been done within a few miles of Pittsburg. Reinforced concrete is the only kind of concrete pavement built in that state.

OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY OF EPISCOPAL DIOCESE

The fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Episcopal diocese of Fond du Lac and the twenty-first anniversary of the consecration to the episcopate of the Rt. Rev. R. H. Weller, bishop, to be observed in 1925, was arranged at a meeting of the diocesan executive board at the home of the bishop last Thursday afternoon.

A project under way for building a new home for the bishop also was discussed at the conference. Dean A. W. Averill, Fond du Lac clergyman, who is chairman of the committee to arrange for the erection of the residence, announced that it undoubtedly would be built on the site of the present home, just west of St. Paul cathedral.

An electric heating device has been developed to prevent locomotive sand pipes from becoming wet and clogged at the lower end. The locomotive headlight generator supplies power to the heaters, which fit over the pipes like shells.

No More Asthma and Hay Fever!

"I want every Asthma sufferer in the city to try my treatment entirely at my risk," Dr. Schiffmann announces. "Go to your druggist and get a package of my Asthmador and, should it fail to give instant relief, the druggist will cheerfully refund your money without any question whatever." The Doctor says, further: "No matter how violent the attack, how obstinate the case, or what else has failed, my Asthmador or Asthmador Cigarettes will give instant relief, usually in 10 seconds, but always within 15 minutes. Hundreds of unsolicited testimonials abundantly prove what my remedy has done, and I know it will do the same for others. I am so positively certain that it will produce instant relief and will be found the best remedy ever used that I have no fears of authorizing these druggists to give this guarantee, or of their being called upon for the refunding of money."

No risk whatever is run in buying this remedy under this positive guarantee, and such a personal trial will prove more conclusively than a "free sample" could possibly prove. R. Schiffmann Co., Propprs., 1734 N. Main, Los Angeles, Calif.

What Makes a Hair Brush Good?

REAL BRISTLE---It's the Most Important Part of Any Brush

Yet Many Brushes Never Have Them

Many people buy brushes with little thought as to the kind and quality of the bristles—yet, here is the most important part of any brush. Split quill and fibre fillers used instead of bristle in many brushes can not be made to hold their place. They break, crumble and come out, causing annoyance and disappointment. Real bristle will not do this.

LA FOLLETTE'S PROGRAM

The chief indictment of Senator La Follette in the minds of most persons is his war record. It is an entirely valid indictment. The most serious criticism of his political program is on his proposal to raise the congress above the supreme court, and in effect to subject the constitution and its guarantees to the whims and caprices of the nation's lawmaking body. It is a merited criticism of a destructive doctrine. Probably the next concrete exception taken to the Wisconsin senator's policies is his alleged persecution of the railroads and his plank for government ownership. If we are to retain private ownership, Mr. La Follette's demands, if applied to our transportation, stand to wreck it. It is obvious to everyone that the railroads today are in a serious condition and that survival of anything like the present service rendered is a matter of great uncertainty. So far as government ownership goes, Mr. La Follette may be right in principle, but it would be nothing short of national folly to attempt to apply that principle now.

Mr. La Follette is a social radical. He is not, however, a communist, or a socialist. He is opposed to certain political and economic abuses that have crept into the American system of government and business, and in this opposition he is unquestionably right. When he attacks the kind of government represented by Fall, Denby and Daugherty, he is performing a real public service. When he assails privilege, as it has been personified in much of the legislature enacted at Washington, particularly that relating to the tariff and the bartering away of invaluable public rights and national resources, he is on the side of right. When he goes after monopolistic corporations and profiteers he is grappling with a great American menace. These evils do exist and they ought to be corrected. Corrupt politics ought to be driven out of Washington and special privilege ought to be abolished.

There are some who believe that in the eradication of these abuses Mr. La Follette would destroy the rights of private property and of American business. We do not believe this is so. What we do believe, however, is that in his crusading Mr. La Follette has gone too far in creating class hatred. His methods have been worse than his objects. He has caused hundreds of thousands of people in this country who do not think for themselves to believe that practically all business is vicious and selfish and that the men who have been serving the country in public life in recent years have been either corrupt or the tools of special interests.

Among these unthinking people he has undermined confidence in the American system of government to a marked degree. His preachings have caused others to become socialists and radicals of more extreme views than his own. He has set a large part of the country against the rest. Perhaps he has excused this on the ground that a part of society has been stealing from and taking advantage of another part. We think, however, he has magnified these wrongs out of all proportion to the political success of our system of government, and to the extraordinary advantages, blessings and prosperity it has bestowed upon the people in whatever sphere of life.

There is no reason to array class against class, no reason to pit labor against business and business against labor. The relationship of labor and employers today, and the growing improvement in that relationship in the last year or two, in the city of Appleton, is ample proof of this fact.

MIND, EMOTIONS AND CRIME

It is the theory of the experts who are attempting to establish a moral alibi for the defense in the trial of Loeb and Leopold that the murderers of Robert Franks are infants in their emotions, still believing in Santa Claus, digging their fingers into jam pots, and deluding themselves with the fantasies of babyhood. Nevertheless, they had enough emotional understanding of their crime to gasp and comprehend the consequences when the truth was wrung from them, and each was confronted with the admissions of the other. Moreover, they prepared in advance a perfect case to cover up the murder and to escape the penalties of the law.

The testimony of $250-a-day experts is just one man's paid opinion against another's. This testimony, by men previously unknown to the public at large, creates an impression solely because of the big fees the witness receives and the millionaires he represents. The state will have experts equally keen and equal in authority to testify to exactly the reverse. The testimony is of little value. Alienists may know something of the minds and emotions of the youths they scrutinized for a few days, and they may know nothing. The subjects may deceive them as well as others.

In a few years, if these murderers are spared, the same alienists, or others like them, will testify for a large fee that they have recovered, that the "sick mind" that caused them to kidnap Robert Franks and club him to death is well. On some such showing an easily led judge will release them. It is almost a certainty. We know that from the Thaw case. It is at worst a gamble with fortune to the parents, who want lenieney now, in the hope of restoring their sons to liberty some day.

Human emotions and temperaments are varied. There are all sorts of minds and hearts. Their reactions to environment differ. Some people are hysterical, some are less emotional, some are apparently without emotion. Some are highstrung, some are sympathetic, and some cold-blooded. Some are selfish and some unselfish, some with strong and some with weak wills, some suspicious, some credulus; some arrogant and some heartless; some sentimental, some morbid-minded, and some colorless and phlegmatic. These differences cause them to act differently under given conditions stimuli and provocations. These differences cause some persons to make sacrifices and to live unselfishly, and the reverse with others. They develop or retard conscience. Their products are honesty or dishonesty, morality or immorality. They lead to stealing, robbing, murder and countless other crimes. But they do not excuse any one from the penalties of the law for breaches of the rights of others, for offenses against society, merely because they have a different emotional and mental make-up from people who preserve the law and respect the rights of others. If we did there would be no such thing as punishment for wrongdoing. Justice would be at the mercy of crime. Loeb and Leopold are in the same category as other criminals. There is something wrong with them, a screw loose somewhere, but they are not insane. They deliberately chose to kill a human being. If they do not pay the extreme penalty for that act as provided by law, justice is cheated, is made the plaything of wealth and deception.

THE FRIENDS OF THE SPRATTS

A little while ago Mrs. Jack Spratt reported here how she had reduced 37 pounds in three months by following a reasonable reduction regimen—she walked six miles a day, rain or shine, and exercised what was, for a fat person rare self discipline, in the restriction of every kind of food. She netted certain advantages aside from the mere reduction of weight. For instance her husband discovered in her something more like the girl he married. Her "rheumatism" disappeared. "Nervousness" passed away and stomach trouble" and headache no longer bothered her. Mrs. Jack Spratt, in short, proved that even a fat woman has a backbone as you will find if you prod deeply enough. In fact something irritating I had said about this aroused Mrs. Spratt's irer and she determined to show that a fat woman has a backbone.

While Mrs. Spratt was doing her daily six miles on the hoof the friends and neighbors had a grand time ridiculing her foolishness. But her man Jack apparently did not see it in that light, for he accompanied the missus on her walks whenever he could take the time. Queer, isn't it, how hard it is for the average man to get time to take a health walk with his wife when they both need it so much. Jack was a good sport, however, and maybe he saw somewhere ahead the vision of that girl he had married, so he trotted along every once in a while, paced by another good sport, and curiously enough while Mrs. Sprat was reducing, Jack himself actually put on some weight—he's a skinny fellow and needs it. But that is perfectly clear to any school boy. Mrs. Spratt was restricting her entire food intake while mister gave his increased appetite full play. Why not?

The neighbors and friends of the Spratt's had a fine time ridiculing the performance, especially that of Mrs. Spratt. The very idea of a 200 pound 5 foot woman well past 30 and with a lot of children to look after, running off that way every day and walking all over town. Why, it was a crazy thing to do, agreed the neighbors. And some of the neighbors thought a woman could get all the exercise she needed just doing her housework. They were wrong. Unless a woman does all her own washing, scrubbing, housecleaning and everything she doesn't get an adequate amount of wholesome exercise. Not enough to keep her quiet fit. And when the heavier duties are delegated to assistants or employes, the housewife simply must seek other means of daily exercise if she wishes to keep in anything like the physical condition she had at the time of her marriage. The sedentary life hurries old age.

By the time Mrs. Spratt had sloughed off enough of the sorry slacker flesh to show unmistakably her backbone, the neighbors and friends discarded the old tunes and besieged her with demands to know how in the world she had managed to do it. All along they tried in every way they could to discourage Mrs. Spratt in her determination to show her backbone particularly the plump friends who probably believed that if a fat woman really had a backbone she could simply have it adjusted and grow thin at will. And then as soon as Mrs. Spratt's backbone began to appear in spots these neighbors and friends who had been so amused at her crazy regimen turned right around and began to envy her what she had won by it. Indeed, several of them are secretly trying to find their own backbones now.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Not Too Much Water

How much water should an adult drink a day? Can one drink too much water? (S. L.)

Sweaty Hands

Is there anything to check or prevent perspiration of the face and hands? (C. B. T.)

Answer.—I can suggest nothing for sweating of the face. For excessive sweating of the hands paint the palms once or twice a week with a solution of 10 grains of chromic acid and one ounce of water. This stains the skin yellow for a time. If that is objectionable, sponge the palms daily for a week with a solution of half an ounce of aluminum chlorid in two ounces of water. Or apply each night to the palms a pea sized piece of this ointment: Formalin, half a dram; menthol, two grains; lanolin, half an ounce; petrolatum, half an ounce. Or use this powder once a day for the hands. Boric acid 98 per centum; salicylic acid, 2 per centum.

ELEGY WRITTEN IN TOURIST CAMPSITE

The klaxon sounds the knell of parting day,
Some late arrivals through the dust clouds creep,
And three hours later we have hit the hay,
The noise calms down so we can get to sleep.
Save where from younder pennant clad sedan
The radio set emits its raucous squeal,
And underneath a nearby light a man
Pounds until daylight on a busted wheel.
Beneath those tattered tops, those patent tents,
Where falls the dust into each sunburned pore,
Each on his folding bed of slight expense
The rude explorers of the highway snore.
Full many a boob of purest ray serene
Succumbs each summer to the touring itch,
Full many a car is doomed to blush unseen,
And waste its sweetness in a Wisconsin ditch.

British Grip On Rubber Trade Gone

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Washington, D. C.—That the Philippine islands are more suitable to the cultivation of rubber than the basin of the Amazon is the finding of experts of the American government who for the past year have been making studies of the subject. Tremendous tracts of land are entirely suitable to rubber cultivation in the Oriental insular possessions of the United States, while the soil of the Amazon does not provide the exact sort of nutrition for the rubber plant.

Some two years ago the American rubber industry became much exercised over the action of the British government in imposing export limitation on the tonnage of crude rubber which could be shipped from the East Indian possessions of Great Britian and from Ceylon. An export tax also was imposed. It was estimated that this action added between $100,000,000 and $200,000,000 to the annual rubber bill of the American people.

U. S. MAKES SURVEYS

Unwilling to submit to this arrangement, American rubber interests induced the government to make surveys in various parts of the world to ascertain if it would not be possible for rubber to be produced under American domination to the end that American consumers would not be dependent on British legislation.

Both the department of agriculture and the department of commerce sent out exploration parties and much valuable data have been gathered. The department of agriculture has gone into the scientific aspects of the problem, investigating soil, climate and rainfall which are all important factors in rubber culture.

The Philippine lands deemed best adapted to rubber cultivation, according to a new report just submitted by the Department of agriculture, are in the large island of Mindanao and in the adjacent smaller islands. Mindanao is about the same size at the state of Indiana. These lands are now growing little rubber, chiefly producing native grasses and timber. There is but one plantation on Mindanao and three small ones on the neighboring island of Basilan. The largest consists of 180,000 trees.

CORN LAND SIMILAR

The new soil survey made of these lands says that they are richer in constituents needed for rubber than the lands of Sumatra and the Malay Peninsula where so much of the world's supply of rubber has come from. There is a general similarity between rubber land and corn land, so far as the soil is concerned. The rubber plant requires a much hotter climate, however. While rubber cannot be raised in the corn belt, corn can be raised to excellent advantage on rubber land, the government experts find. In the Philippines as much as 250 to 300 bushels of corn are raised on an acre of land. This phenomenal yield is possible by raising three or four crops a year.

The party which went to South America to study the rubber-producing possibilities of the Amazon basin found that the climate and rainfall are ideal but that the soil is not what it should be. It is true that much rubber grows wild in Brazil, but it is noticed that the high quality rubber growth appears only in certain soils. The Hevea plant requires a heavy red soil underlain by an open subsoil which permits the long tap root to penetrate into the earth. It is expected that these reports will result in abandonment of the Amazon basin as a rubber source for the United States

Farmer Becomes Big Scale Banker

(From The American Swineherd)

Farmers have gone into the mortgage banking business on a gigantic scale. Through the 12 co-operative federal land banks, they have borrowed from investors and loaned to themselves more than $300,000,000.

The machinery of this huge investing and borrowing system is in good working order—ready for farmers to make use of, either as borrowers or as investers.

The federal land banks get their money by selling bonds to investors of many kinds. They lend this money on first mortgage loans to farmers who work or supervise their own farms.

Tom Jones has $500 which he wishes to invest safely and profitably. Widow Brown has $2,000 in life insurance money. Henry White can spare $1,000.

On the other hand, Frank Smith needs a loan of $3,500. Neither of his neighbors would alone be able to make up the amount. They can, however, purchase federal land bank bonds in amounts to fit their pocketbook.

Frank Smith can apply to the federal land bank for the exact amount he needs and secure the loan, all in one place. This shows, in a small way how savings are gathered into the federal land bank again to flow out where most needed.

From an investment standpoint, federal land bank bonds have much to recommend them. They combine the safety of a carefully selected farm mortgage with the convenience of a gilt-edge bond. They are easy to buy, easy to sell and good property to hold

AFTER BABY WAS BORN

Back Weak and Painful. Mrs. Miller Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rotan, Tex.—"I am writing to let you know how I have been benefited by taking your medicine. After my second baby was born my back was weak and hurt me continually, so I thought I'd try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as I had read so much about where it had helped so many women. I had been bothered with my back for over a year, and it would hurt me until I could not do my work, which is keeping house for three and cooking and washing dishes. I tell all my friends if they have any kind of female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. You may use this testimonial if it will help any one."—Mrs. C. R. MILLER, R.F.D. No. 1, Box 76, Rotan, Texas.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over 121,000 replies were received, and 98 out of every 100 reported they were benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.

SCHNEIDER FIRES OPENING GUN OF BOB'S CAMPAIGN

LaFollette Supporters Will Organize Club at Meeting Thursday Night

Congressman George J. Schneider will fire the first gun of the LaFollette-Wheeler presidential and vice presidential campaign in this county with an address before a gathering of Progressives in the circuit court chambers of the courthouse Thursday night.

The means he has chosen to line up the people sympathetic with the Progressive cause is the organization of LaFollette-Wheeler clubs not only in in this county, but in all counties of the Ninth congressional district. Although invitations have been sent out to members of both the Republican and Democratic parties friendly to the cause, the meeting will be a public one, and open to men and women.

Organization of a LaFollette-Wheeler club will be perfected at the meeting and a way will be paved for raising money to make the Independent Progressive campaign successful.

The purpose of the LaFollette-Wheeler clubs, as defined by Samuel Sigman, Congressman Schneider's secretary, who is in charge of the preliminary work of organization, is to afford an opportunity for all Progressives to join in a united movement to put the Progressive Inedependent ticket across with a bang, not only giving it their financial but also their moral support.

EXPECT BLAINE IN CITY ON SATURDAY

Governor Expected to Deliver Political Address in Kaukauna

Kaukauna—In addition to being a mecca for thousands of visitors who will witness the pageant, Kaukauna will be host to Governor J. J. Blaine and his party Saturday. Saturday is the monthly stock fair day and the city will be full of farmers from Outagamie, Calumet and Brown-cos.

No word has as yet been received as to which direction the state executive will come from but as soon as that is determined steps will be taken to have a delegation from the city meet the party several miles away and escort the visitors in. If Mr. Blaine has no speaking engagement for Saturday or Sunday evening an effort will be made to have him attend the Pageant of Kaukauna.

The Oneida Indian band has again been secured to furnish music for the monthly stock day event. Street entertainment also will be provided and merchants will as usual offer special bargains in merchandise.

GROUNDS TOO WET TO SHOW PAGEANT

Kaukauna—Few people failed to hear that the first showing of the Pageant of Kaukauna had been postponed one day and the result was that few persons were disappointed Tuesday evening. Although it stopped raining early in the afternoon, the grounds were still damp from the weekend rain and the drizzle Tuesday finished the job. To have used the hill behind the stage Tuesday would have made it a muddy mess for the rest of the week.

Rain last Sunday made an outdoor picnic impossible and although a fairly large crowd gathered in the school auditorium where they were entertained with singing and music, the outing will be put on in the manner in which it was first intended.

Efforts are being made to once more secure the combined choirs of the Fox river valley, aggregating 300 voices, to furnish vocal music during the afternoon. The Lyra orchestra of the local church will probably join with a Fond du Lac orchestra to provide concert music under the direction of A. R. Mill of this city.

Refreshment stands and concessions will be taken care of by organizations of the church. Special entertainment will be provided for the children. Invitations will be sent to all Lutheran congregations of the valley.

KROMER BOOKS TWO GAMES FOR SUNDAY

Kaukauna—George "Stormy" Kromer announced Wednesday morning he has booked a doubleheader for the Kaukauna state league baseball team for Sunday afternoon. The first exhibition will be at shortly after 1 o'clock with the crack Fox River Paper Co., team of Appleton which was scheduled to play here last Sunday. The second game will be with the Green Bay Newshounds.

The Fox River team has twice defeated the local boys and Stormy will try to strengthen his lineup to make a showing. Kromer lacks a catcher but is determined not to hire any. He is still strong in his idea of developing players and declares the catcher must be made just like any other player.

DR. COLLINS' BOOK DESCRIBES WRITERS IN BROAD STROKES

Here Is a Book for Readers Who Are Not Afraid of Truths

BY ELEANOR WING

The shifting center of morality,—the fact that the indecencies of one generation will be the decencies of the next and vice-versa, a problem that most critics of today find perplexing and engrossing, is the theme of Dr. Joseph Collins' book, "Taking the Literary Pulse," which was published recently in an illustrated edition by Doran. Dr. Collins is turning the powerful searchlight of careful diagnosis upon the writers, American and French, who are at the moment in the public eye. And he does not hide the inconsistencies, the hypocrasies and the vulgarities that the light reveals. He speaks frankly, decisively and fairly about the subjects modern literature treats most often; sex, heredity, lunacy, feudism, neurosis, psychology, emancipation and disregard for law. Peculiarly enough, he does not criticise or condemn the subjects themselves; rather he asks that the way they are treated be honest and based on fact, not imagination—a physician's instinctive plea for accuracy and foundation for theories, no matter how much more appealing unverified fabrications may seem to the romantic author.

Persons like Edith Wharton, Amy Lowell, Edna St. Vincent Millay, Sherwood Anderson, French writers of the post-war school who have broken loose from the preconceived idea of risque literature—all these the author sketches in broad black strokes upon a clear unsmudged canvas. It is only natural that some of the writers—Walter de la Mare, and Edna St. Vincent Millay, for instance, keep their place on the pedestal that the author has made for them. He criticises them fairly in spite of his liking for them. When he has finished his sketch, we have a definite idea of the person he has drawn. His criticism is too dogmatic perhaps. But his pithy statements make a deep impression. For instance he says "The names of the artistic things without a flaw since the time of Benevenuto Cellini would not fill the pages of a small notebook, and the only one done in America was signed Abraham Lincoln." That kind of a remark needs proof of course, but it has far more value to a thinking person because of its definite challenge, than a vague statement or relative position. Dr. Collins is never on both sides of the fence. Phrases that he use are ones that will not easily slip the memory. He calls Anderson, "A musician who has strayed into literature who paints life all shadows" and sings of it in a "minor key." He cryptically judges Edith Wharton a "writer whose creations have more head than heart, more sand than sentiment. Hence she is more successful with feminine characters."

There is a great deal more than criticisms of modernists in "Taking the Literary Pulse," however. A strain of creative criticism, a personal answer to the troubles of our generation underlies the theme of the book. "We have no lawmakers, no interpreters of our personality and our spiritual property," he says. "The failure to deal frankly and honestly with the sex question in the formative years of a child's life is the great problem that shames modern education. The doctor's answer to the problem is a state committee, organized to keep presenting the complexity of sex to the childish mind as it grows from bud to flower. He believes in keeping our language pure and free from all vulgar slang for "really great literature survives for quite other reasons than its vulgarity of language.

And last but not least important of the interesting angles which Dr. Collins treats as parts of the great straight angle of modern literature is the portrait of doctors as men of letters. Darwin, Keats, Schiller, Goldsmith, Oliver Wendall Holmes, were doctors, before they entered the literary field. But they are known to the world as philosophers, poets and novelists. Why were they so successful? Because novelists and doctors both devote themselves to the study of life, its plusses and its minuses. And doctors have measured up to the standard Dr. Collins has stated when he said "I suggest that the novelist use threads in the weaving of his stories and romances that have been spun by disease, skeined by superstition, colored by fear and marketed by selfishness: Should he do so, his work would have more cynosure for the eye and more magnetism for the heart. I am asking for consistency, jewel that it is.

DARTMOUTH ALUMNI MEET FOR REUNION IN MADISON

The annual outing of the Wisconsin-Dartmouth Alumni association was held Saturday August 2, at the Freerickson "shack" on Lake Mendota, where Dartmouth undergraduates, attending Wisconsin university, among whom is Henry Stevens of Appleton, were guests of the alumni.

Among activities planned for the entertainment of the association was a baseball game between the alumni and the undergraduates, with Jack Ryan leading the former and Woody Wilson leading the undergraduates. Jack Ryan, head coach, Dartmouth '05, and all-American half back on one of Dartmouth's most successful teams, outlined the prospects for the Wisconsin football team and gave his views about the chances for a Wisconsin-Dartmouth game.

Adventures In The Library

By ARNOLD MULDER

BOOK PAGE WEDNESDAY ... ... A SEQUEL TO MOTLEY

The expected has happened and a publishing house has brought out a new edition of "The Fall of the Dutch Republic" by Hendrick Willem Van Loon. This book was first published a dozen or more years ago and at that time it fell dead from the presses. It created no stir. I have no statistics on how many copies were sold but I dare wager the number was very small. It did not "catch on" and being probably published at a loss it was soon out of print.

And it undoubtedly would have remained out of print if Hendrick Willem Van Loon had not made a hit with other books since then. But "The Story of Mankind" and "The Story of the Bible," made him a celebrity and that fact makes the republication of his earlier book that failed a good bet for the publishers. It is likely that thousands of readers will buy the book now who paid no attention to it when it was first published and who would never have considered buying it if Van Loon were not a literary celebrity.

IT'S GOOD BOOK

My impression is that "The Fall of the Dutch Republic" is very much better work than 'The Story of Mankind" that made Van Loon famous. I read the book ten or a dozen years ago when it first appeared and when I had no reason to read it because of its author. I had never heard of Van Loon and his name was not widely known until many years later. But throughout all that time a very vivid impression of the book stayed with me, an impression such as usually only a book of outstanding character makes. It was distinct "library adventure" and although I have not looked into the volume since then my impression of the quality of the narrative is still quite fresh, which would seem to prove that the book is worth while. The new edition was published on August 1st and is now available.

"The Fall of the Dutch Republic" is a piece of more or less iconoclastic history. Or rather, it is just the reverse from chauvinistic history. Van Loon is a Hollander and his book describes an episode in his native country's history that is far from creditable to the people of The Netherlands. A chauvinist would undoubtedly have apologized for that period of Dutch history, the Napoleonic period and would have used up his ingenuity making the best of it and making the Hollanders appear in a creditable light.

CHECKS LOVE OF COUNTRY

But that was not Van Loon's method. He was not only not a chauvinist but the reader gets the impression that, if anything, he leaned the other way in his effort to be dispassionate and not to let his nationality sway his judgement as a historian. The Dutch of his story are not by any means like the heroic Dutch Moltey describes in his "Rise of the Dutch Republic." It is the tale of a once heroic nation in decadence, bending the knee to a foreigner and playing more or less petty politics instead of standing up and choosing martyrdom rather than national dishonor.

A century has passed since that time and the Dutch nation of today can no more be compared with the Netherland people and government of that time than the English of today can be compared with the people who supported the government of George the Third And Van Loon seems to intimate that the Dutch of today ought to be able to endure an unexpurgated history of their nation of that time. He describes the fall of the republic whose rise Motley described; it is a sequel to Motley in spirit rather than in historical sequence.

Many patriotic Hollanders who read it now for the first time in its new dress will probably disagree with it. But it is well written, and those who are prejudiced against Van Loon because of 'The Story of Mankind" and "The Story of the Bible" should make it a point to read it and see Van Loon in an earlier and to my mind a more worth while phase.

PANDORA AND SO BIG SET PACE FOR BOOKS IN LIBRARY

"Seward's Folly" Popular with Readers of Historical Bent

"Pandora Lifts the Lid" by Christopher Morley and Don Marquis has been the most popular book in Appleton Public Library during the last week and from all appearances it will continue to be in demand for a long period. The two authors are the favorites of many readers and their combined efforts have met with unusual success. "So Big" by Edna Ferber is another book that promises to continue in popularity for a long time.

One of the newer books that has met with the approval of library patrons is "The Saint of the Speedway" by Ridgwell Cullum. Cullum will be remembered as the author of "The Heart of Unaga." "The Night Riders" and "The Watchers of the Plains."

"Seward's Folly" by Edison Marshall is favored by those who like historical romances. The book is a story of Alaska before it became United States property and when it was in danger of becoming a British province.

Ida M. Tarbell's book, "In the Footsteps of the Lincolns," has been circulated widely during the last weeks, but has enjoyed popularity since it was first placed on the shelves.

In the children's department stories of athletics and of scouts have been most in demand. Among the most popular were Carruth's "Tracks," Barbour's "Crimson Sweater," and Tomlinson's "Scouting with Daniel Boone." Dalton's "How to Slum' and Perkins' "Twin" books of which there are many, are non-fiction books that have been asked for by the young people.

"The Life of Mrs. Humphry Ward," written by her daughter, Mrs. G. M. Trevelyan, has created unusual interest and is asked for by those who delighted by Mrs. Ward's books when she was a popular author.

A review of the book says: "Mrs. Trevelyan has written a graceful and eloquent book. If her filial devotion has somewhat overshadowed her critical faculties and brought forth a panegyric rather than a judicial study, this portrait, intelligent, sincere, intimate, will be generally welcomed. Its interest lies not chiefly, considerable though that is, in the portrait of a women who was singularly gifted and noble-hearted, but in the light it throws upon the influence at work about her, to which she responded with much energy and thoroughness, during what was something of a revolutionary period in English religious thought."

LORD DUNSANY'S SKETCHES ARE REMINDERS OF WAR

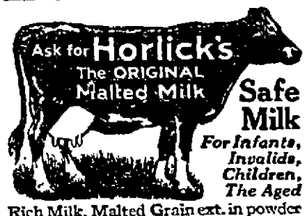

It is the cumulative toll of small human pain that makes war so terrible. Lest we forget this, Lord Dunsany's prose sketches of devastated France have been brought together in a little book called "Unhappy Far-Off Things" (Putnam). In a style that is finely etched and self contained we are reminded that sweet meadows have been turned into waste places pitted with ugly holes, great numbers of peasants left with nothing more than a heap of stones for a house, and cathedrals that have weathered the centuries, gutted and maimed by war. Without rancor or undue emphasis on horros, the author has picked out some of the strange contrasts and bitter verities that follow in the track of disaster. Pictorially the "innumerable separate sorrows" of Albert, Bapaume, and Arras are appealing; framed in the Dunsany remoteness and unearthly quality, they form a mystic gallery of vignetted desolation.—The Bookman.

700,000 CRATES THIS YEAR'S CHERRY CROP

Sturgeon Bay—Records for cherry harvests here were broken with more than 2,215,000 quarts delivered at the Fruit Growers' Union and Canning company stations after the first six days of picking. Threatening rain and a few heavy showers has failed to halt the steady sweep of the pickers through the orchards.

Nearly 460,000 quarts or 30,000 crates of the early fruit were harvested yesterday, exceeding Monday's record by nearly 5,000 crates, and the largest previous picking record, that of 1922, by 6,000 crates.

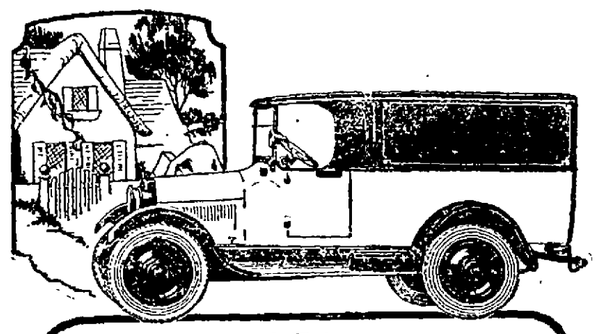

Even the fresh fruit shipping record has been broken with fifteen carloads sent out last Thursday. The bulk of the fruit, however, is being canned with the factory running nearly twenty-four hours a day. Growers predict that the crop this year will be equal to 700,000 sixteen quart cases.

Facile Pen Lost To World When Conrad Answered Call

Joseph Conrad, who paid the greatest compliment to the English language it has ever received, died this week at his home at Oswalds, Bishopbourne, England. He was 67, and it was during the last 29 years of his life that he wrote the numerous novels in the language that he mastered because the limitations of his native Polish were such that he found expression ill adopted to the vivid life of the sea that he wished to paint on a paper page. For a while he chose French as his language but discovered that it was not virile enough for his hardy sailor heroes, who are not ever entirely heroic, and therefore intensely human.

With Mr. Conrad died not only a powerful novelist but also a sailor of ability. Shipping before the mast as a young Polish lad he traveled into strange ports and lonely spots, whose color he absorbed and saved for his writings. He held a certificate as master of the merchant service and never in his life entirely relinquished himself to writing. The call of the sea constantly beckoned him, and from time to time after he became a renowned novelist, he answered that call. And his novels, favorite among which is "Lord Jim" is the work of a man who knew the temptations drifter-philosophy of a sailor who has nothing to call him to land.

In 1895, when Conrad was 38, was published his first novel. "Almayer's Folly." At intervals of one year, followed "An Outcast of the Island," "The Nigger on Narcissus" and "Tales of Unrest." After these Joseph Conrad's fame was established. His mastery of the telling of sea-tales was undisputed. In 1900, "Lord Jim" appeared. Then came "Youth and Other Tales," "Typhoon," "Nostromo," "A Tale of the Seaboard" a play, "One Day More" "The Mirror of the Sea" and "The Secret Agent." Between 1907 and 1921, Conrad wrote "A Set of Six" "Under Western Eyes," "Some Reminiscences" and several short stories, "Sea," "Chance," "Victory," "Within the Tides," "The Shadowline" "The Arrow of Gold" "The Rescue" and "Notes on Life and Letters."

Motorists Want to Know

Motorists frequently put this question to attendants at service stations of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana):

"Is it not a fact that gasoline prices vary more throughout the United States than do the prices of any other product?"

The answer is quoted from the Oil and Gas Journal issue of June 12, 1924:

"Gasoline prices are more uniform than most of the widely utilized commodities. Thirty-five states have gasoline taxes varying in amounts from 1 to 4 cents. This fact would necessitate a difference in retail prices of as great as 4 cents in some states. Crude oil is found in a comparatively small area of the United States and this fact also necessitates variances in the retail prices due largely to the difference in transportation costs from the crude producing fields and the refineries to the gasoline consuming areas. The price differences, however, are not as great as in many other products. For instance, a recent monthly survey made by the United States Bureau of Labor covering twenty-nine cities scattered throughout the United States showed the following high and low range in prices in several commodities: Sirloin steak, 26 to 61.5 cents per lb.; sugar, 9.6 to 12.7 cents per lb.; bituminous coal, $4.50 to $17.40 per ton; flour, 3.3 to 5.5 cents per lb., and oranges, 27.9 to 49.5 cents per dozen. The low in gasoline prices for the same cities was 12.8 cents and the high 20 cents. The survey was made last December when gasoline prices were lower than they are at the present although the same price range is in effect."

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) serves the automobiling public by maintaining at convenient intervals throughout the Middle West, an efficient chain of service stations, which sell gasoline and oils of uniform high quality, at prices as nearly uniform as freight rates and tax laws permit.

The price of gasoline sold by this Company is subject only to the uncertainties of economic laws, which no commodities may avoid.

This highly trained organization of 27,000 men and women is straining every nerve and fibre that you may have gasoline when and where you want it—of highest quality and at a price which is fair, equitable and low at all times.

TELEGRAM FROM RUTH ELLINGTON TO WESLEY SMITH, ATTORNEY

I would like to speak to Mr. Smith. Who shall I tell him is speaking?

Mrs. Ruth Ellington.

Can I take the message?

No, it is personal.

Good morning, Mrs. Ellington.

I have decided to apply for a divorce from my husband. Mr. Smith Will you tell me what kind of procedure I must follow. You know he deserted me one year ago.

Do you know where he is?

I haven't the slightest idea since he left town. Will you make an appointment with me to take the case?

Certainly, Mrs. Ellington. Can you come down this afternoon about four?

Yes, I will be there.

Clipping From the Daily Clarion

Yesterday Mrs. Ruth Ellington applied for a divorce from her husband, Harry Ellington, on the grounds of desertion.

It will be remembered that Ellington left the city about a year ago, taking with him a great deal of money belonging mostly to friends.

A young woman, to whom he had been quite attentive, disappeared about the same time. Nothing has been heard of either of them since.

Mrs. Ellington, however, makes no mention of any co-respondent. She says that she has no knowledge of where her husband is, at the present, and asks for no alimony.

Wesley Smith has been retained by her as attorney.

Night Letter From John Alden Prescott to Leslie Prescott

Syd is recovering slowly. He recognized me this morning. Pretty badly bunged up. Two of his ribs broken and one leg broken at the knee. He will be in the hospital at least two months. I shall remain here until he is quite conscious of his surroundings.

Perhaps you had better come down as soon as he is able to see anyone, and then I will come home with you. Poor old Syd needs the best that is coming to any man and he seems to have gotten the worst. You know, Leslie, he is quite the best friend I ever had. I will stay with him a while. Much love JACK

Adventures Of The Twins

THE BUNNIES' PICNIC

Happy Go Lucky Park was very popular with all the Green Wood folk.

It got to be quite the style to save up pennies for a week and then to take a day off and spend it at the amusement park, where Nancy and Nick were working.

And as for Mister Zip, the little fairyman who started it, why he was getting richer and richer every minute.

And the richer he got, the nicer he made the park. He had put in a stand for ringing canes and a stand for shooting at a target that went ting-a-ling-a-ling when you hit the bull's eye, and a stand for taking chances. It's about the last stand that this story is about.

But there I go. I guess I was meant for a chinaman, for it's always telling things backwards.

To tell things frontwards, it was this way.

One morning Mister Bunny woke up and stretched and said, "Hum ho!" and wiggled his ears and hopped out of bed.

Mrs. Bunny was up already and he could hear her rattling pots and pans in the kitchen as she got breakfast.

"Ben, will you see if the children are up?" she called. "We want to get an early start. They ought to be nearly dressed."

"We're up—we're up, Mammy!" they called.

And soon all the Bunnies were around the breakfast table talking about the good time they were going to have at Happy Go Lucky Park and what they were going to do and everything.

"I'm going to ride the giraffe on the merry-go-round," said Ben Bunny Jr.

Mrs. Bunny was too busy getting the work done to say just what she was going to do, but Mister Bunny was planning and planning and planning.

He wasn't so much planning as he was worrying. And this was what it was about.

He didn't have very much money and he had two or three places to put what he did have.

The very next day was Mrs. Bunny's birthday and he wanted to buy her a present.

And if he went to the park and took the family he wouldn't have enough money to buy her anything, unless he went to the savings bank and took out the rest of his money. And Mr. Bunny wouldn't do that because his savings in the savings bank was for a rainy day and couldn't be touched.

"My goodness, Pa," said Ma Bunny when they got to the park. "You look more as though you were going to a funeral than a picnic. What's the matter with you?"

"Oh, I was just thinking," said Mister Bunny.

At that minute his eye fell on the stand where a sign said "Take a chance for 10 cents and win a lamp."

Mr Bunny then saw a row of lovely lamps of all colors under the sign and he had an idea.

"I'll take a chance and maybe I'll win a lamp," he said to himself. It will make a fine birthday present for Ma. I'll ask Nick about it."

GREEN BAY INVADES PAPERMAKERS' PARK SUNDAY

Brabymen Will Attempt To Make It 8 Straight At Appleton's Expense

Smith's Tribe Will Seek Revenge for Two Previous Defeats at Hands of Fast Baymen.

HOW THEY STAND

	W	L	T	Pct.
Noo-Menasha	2	0	0	1.000
Green Bay	2	0	0	1.000
APPLETON	1	1	0	.500
Oshkosh	1	1	0	.500
Sheboygan	0	2	1	.000
Fond du Lac	0	2	1	.000

SUNDAY'S SCHEDULE
GREEN BAY AT APPLETON.
Menasha at Fond du Lac.
Oshkosh at Sheboygan.

Rain Sunday spoiled the culmination of an interesting situation when it forced the Papermakers and Indians to call off their game at Oshkosh and the Baymen and Pails at Menasha. The two former are tied for third place, while the Rushites and Brabymen are leading neck and neck. Fond du Lac and Sheboygan met in the league contest played Sunday, but eleven hot innings failed to break their tie for the cellar berth when darkness forced them to quit with the score 0 to 0.

Sunday Green Bay invades this city which will give Smith's hirelings a chance to establish a claim on second place. Oshkosh has the same chance, and if the Papermakers beat the Baymen and the Ihrig Washers shove Sheboygan still deeper into the mire, Appleton, Green Bay and Oshkosh will be tied for second, providing the Pails don't slip up in their contest with Louis Faris' tribe. In that event a quadruple tie for first place might

WON SEVEN STRAIGHT

The Baymen have seven straight wins to their credit on the eve of Sunday's battle here, and plan to make it eight at the expense of the Papermakers. Before the rearrangement of the schedule the Brabymen twice humbled Appleton. The first time was at Green Bay, 8 to 2, and the second here, 8 to 5. The Green Bay club has been playing a high grade of ball as its record shows, but the Papermakers are confident they will be able to break their spurt. Most of the Appleton players are members of industrial teams and get plenty of practice during the week. They are in good shape for the Sunday contest, and after getting a whole flock of errors off their systems two weeks ago should go good.

At the last home game the stands were crowded to capacity, and the fans kept the air filled with noise from start to finish. The game was exciting and close and the large number of hits made by each side added to the interest for the average fan. Probably Sunday's contest with the Baymen will be much tighter, but if the Papermakers can keep up their hitting to the same standard they displayed against the Pails, the Brabymen will have an extremely busy time near the fences.

Great Jump Of Legendre Was 1924 Thriller

Boston—Every season usually finds at least one outstanding performance in track and field competition. In 1923 it was Charles Brookins' sensational breaking of the 220-yard low hurdle record, a mark which had withstood the test of time for a quarter of a century.

This year, the honor goes to Robert Legendre, member of the Olympic team and former luminary at Georgetown University. Legendre earned his laurels in the running broad jump at the International games with a leap of 25 feet 6 inches, a new world's record. The old mark, three inches less, was held by Ned Gourdin, ex-Harvard brilliant.

Legendre's record was a surprise. It exceeded anything that he had ever done by almost a foot. It was the most sensational performance turned in by any American athlete abroad.

Moreover, it cast De Hart Hubbard of Michigan out of the picture. Hubbard had been picked as the one most likely to smash Gourdin's mark. Several times Hubbard had gone beyond the 25-foot mark; once he hit 25 feet 2 inches and he cleared 25 feet 5½ but the mark was disallowed because he overstepped the takeoff.

Now along comes Legendre with his thrilling leap and spills the dope. He made it in the decathlon. Hubbard, it is true, won the broad jump as expected, but was able only to clear 24 feet 6 inches.

BERNICE WALL AND VIRGINIA GITTENS ARE AMONG LEADERS

Oshkosh and Green Bay Golf Queens Survive in Western Title Meet

Chicago—Favorites in the women's western golf championship matches at Onwentsia club having won nearly all of the matches Tuesday, were prepared Wednesday to continue their fight for honors, despite the handicap of weather conditions.

The defending champion, Miss Miriam Burns, Kansas City and National Champion Edith Cummings, came through successfully and with ease. But three matches were close, yet most of Tuesday's winners had to score around 90 to be safe for Wednesday's contests.

The elimination of Mrs. Elaine Rosenthal Reinhart, Dallas, twice holder of the title and once the champion runner up, and Mrs. Perry Fiske, Aurora, former western champion, furnished the only upsets of the day.

Shooting close to 90 hardly proved the good golf of which the players are capable as a trapped shot usually cost a stroke traps being were waterlogged.

In the upper bracket Wednesday, Miss Burns and Miss Virginia Pen. St. Louis meet. Miss Bernice Wall, Oshkosh, Wisconsin, champion who defeated Madge Miller, Grand Rapids, 19 holes, faces Virginia Wilson, Chicago. Mrs. F. C. Letts meets Dorothy Klotz and Mrs. H D. Sterrett, Hutchinson, Kans, opposes Mrs. J. W. Taylor, Chicago.

In the lower half, Virginia Gittins, Green Bay, who defeated Mrs. Melvin Jones, Chicago, 4 and 2, meets Miss Cummings. Mrs. Dave Gault, Memphis, who has been shooting exceptionally good golf will oppose Catherine Walsh, Grand Beach. The latter Tuesday defeated Mrs. Jackson, Seattle, 2 up, and thereby eliminated the only western contender.

Other matches are Louise E. Fordyce, Youngstown, vs. Miss Lee Mida, Chicago, and Mrs. Stuart Hanley, Detroit, vs. Dorothy Higbee, Chicago.

FISHING WEEDY LAKES

There are a lot of the "plug" anglers that get heart failure when a fishing pal recommends some lake that contains a lot of vegetation, especially around the shore line, and they always have some other "good place" to suggest but, take a tip from an old timer that the weedy lakes are the best, providing one knows how to fish them.

In order to do a successful day's "tossing" on a lake like that described above one has to equip his kit with some good weedless hooks and a few of hinge lug spinners and a little strip of pork rind. A chunk cut in the shape of a frog on a weedless hook will do the business very nicely.

If one has the proper weedless hook one will have little or no trouble in slamming that old chunk or spinner right up to the shore line or in the openings between lilies. Don't forget the thinned out rushes as that's where the old "he wops" are snooping around, generally trying to pick up something to put in the bread basket.

Now take the spinner mentioned, connected up to a red ibis fly and cast it right into the rushes. Then retrieve it slowly and see what happens—the spinner or lure will climb up some of the rushes until it gets top heavy, and then drop into the water as naturally as a minnow takes a dive and it has been my experience to have many a bass take a hop or two trying to pull the little red feathers and spoon down from their Christmas tree.

Do you know Baseball?

by Dilly Evans.

QUESTIONS

1. Batsman hits ball. It strikes the home plate and is deflected into fair territory, bounding into the pitcher's hands, who retires runner at first. Is it fair or foul?—W. H. R.

2. With runners on second and third and two out, batsman doubles to right field. Both runners score. Batsman fails to touch first. Ball is returned there and umpire rules batter out for third out. Do the two runs that crossed the plate on the hit count?—W. H. R.

3. Can the pitcher after he has started any movement that the umpire considers part of his delivery to the batter shift and throw to some base in an effect to catch a runner? —R. H. W.

ANSWERS

1. It is a fair ball, provided it bounded directly from the plate into fair territory and in no way came into contact with the batsman standing in his box.

2. The runs that crossed the plate on what should have been a two-bagger do not count. No runs can score on a play in which the batsman fails to reach first for the third out. Failure to touch first made such a play.

3. The pitcher after starting his delivery to the batter must continue it. Stopping the delivery, and throwing to some other base, must be regarded as a balk by the umpire.

KIMBERLY MEETS COMBINED LOCKS

Industrial Leaders of Valley Clash in Opener of Series Saturday

Kimberly and Combined Locks will meet Saturday afternoon to settle their baseball differences on the Kimberly diamond in the first of a series which has become an annual affair of considerable importance in the two communities. Last year these two clubs staged a close battle for the Industrial league pennant, and the end of the season found them in a dispute as to who had won. The difficulty never was settled in a manner satisfactory to both teams, and the series beginning Saturday is expected to decide the matter definitely.

The contest is scheduled to start at 3 P. M., and the public is invited. Intense rivalry has marked the relations of the two cities in all branches of sport for years, but hostilities on the diamond have been much more intense than in other lines.

KIWANIS BATTLES ADMEN THURSDAY

Leaders of Lark Twilight League Scheduled to Clash With Tailenders

Inclement weather has put a bad crimp in the Lark league schedule since its inception nearly two months ago and at present there are three or four postponed games to play off. Monday afternoon the Rotarians were scheduled to clash with the Lions, but the Jones park diamond was covered with water from Sunday's cloudburst. Thursday the league leading Kiwanis will meet the lowly Advertisers if the weather permits The Kiwanis tasted their first defeat last week when the Lions swamped them under a 25 to 5 score, but they look for little trouble with the Ad club men who have yet to break into the win column.

In their most recent contest the Advertisers piled up eight runs in the initial inning against the Rotarians, but after that they petered out and bowed to their rivals, 25 to 13. Their game showed great improvement however, and the Kiwanis may get a surprise.

EVERY HOME OWNER CAN GET EXEMPTION

Although mere affidavit of ownership was not sufficient to secure the $500 homestead exemption from assessment in the case of those property owners who did not file their deeds or land contracts in the register of deeds office, no Appleton home owner was deprived of the exemption allowed by law, according to A. C Rule, city assessor.

In some cities home owners were denied exemption because they did not file their deeds or land contracts with the register of deeds. In Appleton the city assessor took pains to make certain that a land contract or deed, though yet unrecorded, actually existed, by asking that they be shown.

The board of equalization is still accepting exemption affidavits until the date of its adjournment Saturday.

Browns In Limelight With Four Straight Over Washington Club

Yankee Thrive on Heat and Get to Detroit Pitchers for 17 Safeties, One of Which Is Homer By Babe.

The American league spotlight, monopolized the past few weeks by New York, Detroit and Washington, is focused Wednesday upon St. Louis. As a result of our straight victories over the Senators and eight wins out of their last nine games, the Browns now are within a game and a half of the capital's representatives and four and a half behind the Yankees, who led the Tigers by two contests.

Thriving on the intense heat, which evidently wilted Detroit's pitchers, the Yankees placed 17 hits in every unguarded spot on Navin field and crossed the plate nine times to Detroit's two Ruth accounted for three of his team's tallies by whaling out his thirty-fifth homer with Witt and Dugan on the lines.

Shocker, holding Washington to three bingles in the first game, and Danforth, who judiciously apportioned eight hits in the second, were chiefly responsible for St. Louis' double triumph over Washington. The scores were 2 to 0 and 4 to 2. Chicago kept pace with the Browns, whom they trail by four games and a half, with a two ply win from Philadelphia, 5 to 2 and 6 to 3.

In a mound battle between Coveleskie and Ferguson, Cleveland, eked out a 1 to 0 decision over Boston.

Errors at critical periods upset the excellent pitching of Guy Bush, the Cub recruit, and gave the Giants a 2 to 1 victory, in ten rounds.

Pittsburg continued its sensational winning streak by taking a third straight game from Brooklyn by a score of 8 to 1.

Eleven innings were necessary to settle the Cincinnati Philadelphia clash in favor of the former by a score of 4 to 3. The Phillies knotted the count in the eighth and ninth before finally succumbing to the Red's irresistible offensive.

It took St. Louis just two innings to put the game with Roston out of the Braves' reach. The Cardinals chased seven men across the plate in the initial two frames and finally won, 8 to 4.

PAGEANT GOES ON TONIGHT AS SKY CEASES LEAKING

Hundreds Disappointed When First Performance Is Postponed from Tuesday

Thousands of people who had planned to visit the Pageant of Kaukauna on its opening night Tuesday were disappointed when it was announced that the first performance of the historical spectacle was to be postponed until Wednesday night. Consideration for the comfort of the spectators as well as realization of the difficulties of presenting a high grade performance on the slippery hillsides which form the stage caused the pageant committee to postpone the opening performance.

The cast, however, did not have a rest. Rehearsals were held Tuesday night to polish up the actors and tonight an even more finished performance than would have been possible last night will be presented.

In spite of the threatening weather, a large number of people started from Green Bay, Sturgeon Bay and Oshkosh for the pageant only to be disappointed when they learned the performance had been postponed.

Promoters of the big spectacle are hopeful that nothing will interfere with the showing tonight. About 250 Oshkosh Rotarians, Kiwanians and Lions, with their families are expected to pass through Appleton tonight on their way to the pageant city. Appleton Kiwanis club also expect to attend the pageant in a body tonight and tomorrow night Appleton Lions will go in a group.

TELEPHONE COMPANY ASKS FOR INCREASE IN RATES

the new schedule is approved. Two party residence phono subscribers, now paying $2 a month will pay $2.50 and 4-party residence phone rates will be increased from $1.75 to $2 a month.

BUSINESS PHONES

One party business phone subscribers will pay $7 a month under the proposed new rate, an increase from $4.50. The rate on the 2-party business phone will be $6 a month, instead of the $3.50 now being paid.

The statement prepared by the telephone company shows that the local exchange is earning less than 2 per cent at present on its capital investment here. It is argued that this is not a healthy condition and that future expansions to keep pace with the constantly increasing demand for telephone service will be difficult unless revenues are increased.

"Our present plans call for an expenditure of $81,000 for additional office equipment and installation of telephone stations," H. M. Fellows, local manager, said in explaining the reason for the request for increased rates. "Telephone growth in Appleton has been rapid. We are now serving nearly 6,000 subscribers' stations and the present equipment is constantly requiring addition to meet the demand for service. So far as we can see now the extensive program of expansion and replacement will continue at an even greater pace than in the past. The subscriber to telephone service in Appleton ten years ago could be connected to 2,700 other local telephones. Today he can be connected to nearly 6,000 other telephones.

MORE EQUIPMENT

"We are doing our best to furnish telephone service and supply it as fast as we can to the people of Appleton. In order to meet this demand and supply a high grade of service, the net plant investment of the of the Wisconsin Telephone Co. in Appleton has been increased nearly 100 per cent since the beginning of 1921. At that time our local minimum book value was $294,815 and in May of this year it was $549,915.00 an increase of $255,100. The increase was made at wages and material much higher than much of the plant in service prior to 1921, bringing the average cost in investment for each subscriber's station and attendant outside plant and general office equipment at a higher average investment than prevailed prior to 1921.

"We want the people of Appleton to understand," continued Mr Fellows, "that in seeking new local rates the company is acting to correct a situation that, if continued, would make it impossible to maintain the service at high standards and to attract new capital for enlarging the system to meet new demands for service."

Application for increases in rates have been made in Green Bay and Depere, where large improvements in service have been made in the last few years.

COUNCIL READY FOR ACTION ON 2 PAVING PLANS

Part of Cherry-st and Leminwah-st Will Be Paved This Summer

Plans and specifications for paving the 200-foot strip of road from the Cherry-st bridge to Second-st will be submitted by the city engineer to the common council at its regular meeting Wednesday night. This part of Cherry-st will be paved this summer.

The council Wednesday evening will readvertise for contractors' bids for paving three blocks on Leminwah-st, a link in highway 15. Plans and specifications prepared by R. M. Connelly, city engineer, have been returned by the state highway commission with their approval.

Action also may be taken Wednesday on the petition of Mason-st residents for a footbridge and sidewalk over a small ravine on that street between Second-st and the Chicago and Northwestern railway tracks which pass through Pierce park. Plans and specifications will be submitted. The residents complained over the condition that forces them to walk on the road even when it is oiled.

GERMANS ANSWER ALLIED PROPOSAL ON DAWES SCHEME

Military Evacuation of Ruhr and Retention of Allied Railmen Questioned

London—The German memorandum in reply to the allied protocol outlining plans for putting the Dawes reparation program into effect was handed to the allied representatives in Downing Street Wednesday morning by the chiefs of the German delegation. In consequence Premier MacDonald is urging all possible expedition so that another plenipary meeting of the international conference can be held Wednesday. The Germans worked all night and completed their reply to the protocol at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning.

American experts who read the German memorandum and covering letter submitted to the allies Wednesday said they did not believe the objections raised were likely to prove a serious bar to the success of the program the interallied body has worked out for making the Dawes plan effective.

It was announced that the "Big Fourteen" of the conference would reassemble at 9 o'clock Wednesday evening.

The memorandum was an 18-page document accompanied by a covering letter. It was a broad survey from the German point of view, of the whole program of the interallied conference as worked out for the launching of the Dawes plan. It did not go into details but presented the German viewpoint regarding the experts' report on defaults and sanctions, on the fiscal and economic unity of Germany and on the transfer of reparation payments, the three divisions into which the conference work was divided.

In the covering letter which the Germans presented, two important questions outside the conference were raised. The first was the military evacuation of the Ruhr and the other zones outside the Rhineland, and the second was the question of the retention of allied railwaymen in the Ruhr.

TWO KILLED WHEN BOLT STRIKES BARN

By Associated Press

Kenosha—Two lives were claimed by the storm that deluged Kenosha and Kenosha-co early Tuesday evening. Oscar Lundgreen, 19, and Arthur Sorrensen, 16, were instantly killed when struck by lightning while standing in the doorway of a barn on the Sorrensen farm four miles west of Kenosha on the Milwaukee road. Clyde Swanson, also standing in the barn, was stunned by the bolt but will recover.

The heavy rain caused great property loss flooding hundreds of cellars in Kenosha. Traffic was halted for more than an hour Tuesday evening because of flooded districts and trees blown across the streets.

GUARDSMEN FORM CLUB TO PROMOTE SPIRIT OF GUARD

George Bellew Heads Organization of Civilian Soldiers

To promote the spirit of the national guard in Appleton and to promote friendliness among guardsmen, members of Co. D of the 127th machine gun battalion formed a new organization in Armory G Tuesday evening. George Bellew was elected president and other officers are: William E. Donovan, secretary, and Hubert J. Piettem, treasurer.

Membership is limited to members of Company D, and invitation will be extended to each member to join. The organization will use the club rooms in the basement of the armory which were redecorated and furnished two years ago for the use of guard members at a cost of $1,500, paid for out of the revenue from the armory. The soldiers have not been getting the use they expected from the rooms as there was not enough to keep them interested. The club will put in a pool table and a stand at which candy, cigarettes and cigars will be sold.

Open house will be held at the rooms on certain evenings for friends of guardsmen.

Membership in the organization will be forfeited when a member leaves the guard unless he has served five years. It also is the intention of the club to install a kitchenette and put in gymnasium fixtures in the basement.

Company D won the Chase trophy in 1923, the highest honor that can be won at camp, for courtesy and discipline. The accident which happened to one of the boys at camp this year prevented them from attaining the honor again as it constituted a breach of discipline. Several public displays of the work that has been accomplished by the company will be given in the future.

The next meeting of the organization will be held Monday evening in the armory. An executive committee will be appointed and memberships will be accepted. An emblem is to be chosen and suggestions for a name for the organization will be considered.

WORK FORCES DAVIS TO CUT SHORT RALLY

Democratic Nominee Has Busy Program Ahead After Day of Rest at Luce Valley

By Associated Press

New York—After a day of rest at his home at Lue Valley, L. I. John W. Davis, Democratic party standard bearer, had another busy day ahead Wednesday at his personal headquarters in this city.

Engagements with a number of party leaders were on his calendar and further discussions with his campaign manager, Clem L. Shaver, regarding organization and selections were booked. The chairman of the finance committee upon which will devolve the task of raising campaign funds, has been selected but his name has not yet been made public.

Because of a pressure of work before he leaves for Clarksburg Friday, Mr. Davis has decided to cut short his visit to Hyde Park, New York, to attend a Rally of Duchess-co Democrats. Instead of leaving here Wednesday night and returning Friday, he will crowd the trip into a single day.

FOURTH SHILOH MEMBER DROWNS

Benton Harbor, Mich.—The fourth House of David member to drown this year perished in the waters of Lake Michigan early Tuesday evening when Frank Bedwell, 20, a native of Liverpool, England, and a follower of the colony faith since 1922, went down while three companions, also members of the local Israelite cult, sought vainly to effect his rescue.

Bedwell's body was recovered in a few minutes by members of the United States Coast guard.

TRAINS LATE AS THEY CRAWL OVER WEAKENED TRACKS

Passenger and Mail Service Again Disrupted By Heavy Rains

Train service between Appleton and Milwaukee as a result of more severe storms between Oshkosh and Milwaukee, has been interrupted again. Big washouts were caused on the Chicago and Northwestern tracks south of Fond du Lac, and although trains have been sent over the Wisconsin division, they are moving considerably behind schedule.

Train No. 101 which was due here at 11:32 Tuesday night did not arrive until 5 o'clock Wednesday morning. Train No. 121, due here at 2:35 Wednesday morning, did not travel over the usual route at all, but passed over the Lake Shore division to Green Bay, from which mail for Appleton was transferred to the train which arrived here from Green Bay at 7:47 Wednesday morning. The train due here Tuesday morning at 5:33 arrived at 1 o'clock noon.

Storms breaking out afresh in the southern part of the state inundated fields and roads, washed out concrete bridges and threatened dams.

John Miller, Grand Chute, living on the Spencer-rd, was one of the farmers to lose animals as a result of Sunday's storm here. One of his horses was struck by lightning while out in the pasture Sunday night.

A pump hose on the farm of George Schmidt, Center, was wrecked Sunday morning. Wind blew the building partly over, tearing off boards, breaking the pump and knocking the engine over. Two doors on the barn also were blown in and doubled up.

PARLIAMENT MAY SETTLE LINE ROW

Unless Irish Free State Appoints Commissioners, Action Will Be Taken

By Associated Press

London—Colonial Secretary Thomas announced in the house of commons Wednesday afternoon that after a full and frank discussion of the Irish boundary problem, with members of the Free State government, the British government had decided to summon parliament to deal with the question, Sept 30, unless by that time the Ulster government had nominated boundary commissioners in accordance with the provisions of the Anglo-Irish treaty.

In the meantime, Mr. Thomas said, the government would introduce Wednesday a bill providing for the settlement of the question along the lines previously indicated by government spokesmen. The second reading of the bill would be proceeded with and the bill pressed forward when parliament met in September, he added.

LONSDORF PONDERS AUTOMOBILE DEATH

No action has been taken by the family of Anton Nytes toward prosecution of Russell Berzill of Appleton for running down and fatally injuring the aged man while he was crossing a road in Buchanan Sunday night. Berzil asserted that he was under the impression that he was about to be held up by bandits and therefore did not stop to give aid after he struck him down. But after reading the account of the accident in the Post Crescent he delivered himself to the authorities. John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney, was unable to state Wednesday, whether prosecution will result.

NEWLY ORGANIZED FINANCE COMPANY OPENS THURSDAY

Basil F. McKenzie Appointed Manager of Peoples Loan and Finance Co.

Appleton's newest financial institution, the People's Loan and Finance Co., will open Thursday night at 588 Oneida-st. According to its officers, the institution is established to enable persons of moderate means, without permanent banking facilities, to secure credit to be repaid in weekly, semi-weekly and monthly installments.

William J. Konrad, Jr., cashier of Citizens National bank, is president of the company which has an authorized capital of $100,000. The organizers are almost entirely people of Appleton, Kaukauna, Neenah and Menasha.

Other officers of the company are: First vice president, Ben Plowright, director of the bank of Menasha; second vice president, Paul Smith, director of First National bank of Kaukauna and general superintendent of the Combined Locks Paper Co; secretary, Karl Schuetter, Appleton; treasurer, William J. Roemer, president of the William J. Roemer Lumber Co.

Others on the board of directors are George W. Thom of the Combined Locks Paper Co., W. P. Tearse, Menasha, and W. S. Walker, vice president and treasurer of the Citizens Finance Co. St. Louis Mo.

Basil F. McKenzie, connected with the Citizens National bank for a year, has been appointed manager of the new company and is in charge of the office. Mr. McKenzie came to Appleton from New York where he was connected with the Lee Higginson Co., investment bankers, and where he was graduated from Columbia university. He lives at 500 Walnut-st.

The formal opening of the office will be between 7 and 9 o'clock Thursday evening when officers and directors will explain to visitors the nature of the company's financial service.

Officers of the company are confident of winning public approval from the start because of facilities which it offers to individuals who heretofore were handicapped because of inability to obtain financial help.

"Our organization does not conflict in any way with any other institution here," Mr. Konrad said. "In fact we offer a service which is a distinct departure from that offered by any other company."

Mr. Konrad emphasized that the credit facilities which the Peoples Loan and Finance Co. will promote have not been available here up to this time.

"Character and earning power will be the basis of credit." Mr. Konrad explained. "The company was organized to furnish credit to salaried people on such a basis. Men and women of moderate salaries, merchants and manufacturers may benefit through the new institution.

"Appleton has needed such an institution and it should be a factor in the development and prosperity of the city."

GOVERNOR PASSED THRU HERE TODAY

Governor John J. Blaine passed through Appleton Wednesday on his way to DePere and Green Bay where he was to deliver campaign speeches. Tuesday he spoke in Oshkosh, and Wednesday noon he was to give two talks in Neenah and Menasha, following with an address at 4 o'clock in DePere and another at 8 o'clock in Green Bay.

The governor also is expected to attend the historical pageant at Kaukauna Saturday evening and deliver an address in that city in the afternoon. He will speak in Eagle hall here at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, Aug. 12. This is to be followed by an address at Clintonville at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

RAIN FORCES ROTARIANS TO CHANGE PARTY PLANS

Wet weather which made necessary a change in plans for the Kaukauna pageant also changed plans for Appleton Rotary club which had intended to attend the pageant in a body Tuesday night. Rotarians and their wives went to Kaukauna for supper and spent the evening informally.

Rotarians have abandoned their plan to attend the pageant in a body.

MILWAUKEE MAN NAMED C. N. W. DIVISION AGENT

W. B. Basing, general agent of the Northwestern Railway company, has received official notice of the appointment of R. C. Kerr formerly general agent at Milwauke, as division freight and passenger agent of the Northern Wisconsin division with headquarters at Green Bay. He succeeds H. C. Cheyney of Green Bay, who died two weeks ago.

POSTPONE MEETING OF POLICE COMMISSION

A meeting of the Appleton police and fire commission was scheduled to be held Wednesday evening, but due to the fact that there was no weighty business to engage the commission the meeting was postponed until Sept 4.

NOW JUST WHAT DOES THIS FELLOW WANT US TO DO?

An Eagle River attorney has his own way of "boosting" Sen. Robert M. LaFollette for president. He has had posters printed and pasted all over the community screeching the words, "Hurrah! Vote for Bob and Booze. Vote for Blaine and the Poison Peddlers." One probably would not know from the tenor of the poster whether the attorney is pro or con, but rumor has it that the attorney is not a drinking man.

EPIDEMIC OF CAR THEFTS REPORTED TO POLICE HERE

Reports of stolen automobiles have been coming to the police station so fast that traffic officers and patrolmen have to tax their memories with the long lists of license numbers. Most of the reports come from long distances, however. On Wednesday morning the mail brought eleven reports, seven from Detroit, three from Minneapolis and one from Middleton, Wis.
